

By Don Lall

Flash! The mosquito boats of the British navy have turned out to be more powerful than the mosquito string of the last malaria peril. As the fleet made a daylight attack on Nazi Europe followed by the Anglo-American aerial attack, the buzzing bombs burst on Berlin as well as southeastern Germany. An attempted fatal blow was made on London by our enemy, leaving behind them four demolished houses, a football club, and two people. At the same time at a different station the Anglo-American counter-attack proved more successful. Western Germany and Berlin were bombed without the loss of one hair on one Allied flyer.

Do It Again

History is being made every day and today, as approximately 25 years ago, a private named Hitler surrendered but in a different manner. This German youth swam naked across the Volturno river to surrender to the Fifth Army. It won't be too long before he'll be in the hands of the Allies, deserting his true "Aryan" of the master race.

Nips Nipped Again

Allied air might again sink the Rising Sun a little lower when 60 planes and two warships were sent to Davey Jones at Rabaul. This has been the second raid within a week, and the Japs can't afford to sustain these losses. Not content with losing their base at Finsehafen, the little yellow sons tried a landing to recover the base but most of them are now where all Japs go.

Capri Capers

When the Island of Capri was taken after no resistance, the Allied sailors took over Luigi's bar. But Luigi was unhappy for the Germans were moving on the town of Castellammare where his daughter and his expected grandchild were. A Navy lieutenant told his commanding officer of the situation but he was forbidden to go to the town and rescue the girl. However, he was ordered to patrol near the town and he could go as near as he wished. Luigi's daughter was returned to Capri and all had a Scotch and Soda good time.

Blue Feathers Will Mark Women Joining YW Drive

Campaign Set
To Open Monday
For Membership

Traditional YWCA blue feathers will mark the women who have joined the Y in its membership drive which opens Monday.

Desks will be placed in the Post office, McVey hall, and in the Great hall, Union building, for the convenience of those who wish to sign the pledge cards, according to Carolyn Spicer, president.

The membership fee is $1 which should be paid at the time of joining or as soon afterwards as possible.

Full information about the various functions of the Y, which include the Freshman club, Dutch Lunch club, Junior-Senior commission and the Y's Owl, may be obtained at the membership desks.

Members To Work

Members have been assigned to work in sorority and residence houses. They include Margaret Hatter, Alpha Gamma Delta; Frances Jenkins, Alpha Delta Pi; Virginia Baskett, Delta Delta Delta; Clara Lane, Chi Omega; Claudine Gibson, Kappa Delta; Brewster Phelps, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Julia Rowland, Shelby house; Elsie March, Zeta Tau Alpha; Helen Bradford, Hamilton house; Ruth Moore, Alpha Xi Delta; Jean Phipps and Mary Elizabeth Stigall, Jewell hall.

Ruth Anthony and Betty Lee Birk, Lydia Brown, Alice Benton, Sigma Nu; Dorothy Cottrell and Ellen O'Bannon, Phi Delta Theta; Wanda Scrivner and Martha Koppl, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Audrey Davis, Kappa Sigma; Ruth Eubanks, Sigma Chi; Frances Kendall, McDowell house; Claudine Mullinaux, Patterson annex.

Former Editor
Speaks Today
In McVey Hall

John P. Day, former Kernel editor, and winner of one of the coveted Nieman fellowships to Harvard university, will speak at an assembly of journalism students this afternoon at 1 o'clock in room 54, McVey hall.

The author of the book Bloody Ground, a study of Brecht's poetry, Day is in Lexington for a vacation preparatory to going overseas for service with the Office of War Information.

A member of the class of 1935, Day began his newspaper career on the Lexington Leader, later joining the Associated Press from which he was given a leave of absence last year to accept the fellowship at Harvard.

The Nieman awards are made annually to a dozen newspapermen of high qualifications in order to permit them to improve themselves by further study in their fields of interest.

Seven Soldiers
Named To Places
On YMCA Cabinet

Seven soldiers have been appointed to the YMCA cabinet to help promote cooperation between the organization and military units. It was announced after the annual YM-YWCA retreat last week.

They are C. Wong, Ralph Summa, Norman Swanson, Bill Johnson, Ted Wirths, Tom Young, and John Jensen.

Meeting times of all groups have been moved up to 6:15 p.m. so that soldiers may attend. Members of the ASTP will meet with the Freshman club in the Y lounge, and upperclassmen and ASTP students will meet together in the Music room. All Y meetings are on Tuesdays.

Movie Slated
To Be Shown To Cosmopolitan Club

Walt Disney's movie, "South of the Border," will be shown at the first meeting of the Cosmopolitan club at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Y lounge.

The purpose of the club is to promote understanding and friendship among the members of different nationalities, and to afford entertainment and fellowship for the students and faculty members who come to the University from other countries.

During its existence on this campus, there have been over thirty countries represented by its members and guests.

Membership in the Cosmopolitan club is composed of an equal fifth of native and foreign-born students and faculty members.

YWCA Membership Campaign . . .

which officially begins Tuesday, was opened this week by pinning the traditional blue feather on students from three foreign countries. Helen Harrison, Lexington, is shown giving the symbol of membership to Rose Amada Segarra, Ecuador, who is now a University student. Standing, from left to right, are Carolyn Spicer, Lexington, president of the YWCA; Mercy Cornelius, India, a graduate student at the University of Michigan who spoke to the Y last Tuesday night; and Huguette Balzola, Mexico, a University student.

Medical Test
Will Be Given

A medical aptitude test for all persons who plan to enter medical school will be given at 3 p.m., Friday, November 5, in room 103, Health building. This is the only such test to be given this year.

All students who plan to take the test should apply immediately to Dr. J. S. Chambers in the Health building.

ASTPs Place
Two On SUB

Pvt. J. H. C. Dick and Jacob A. Bedenbough, T/4, were elected Saturday to fill the two vacancies on the Union board. It was revealed today. One of these will serve as assistant to Jay C. Doyle, chairman of the Dance committee, and one will assist Rob McNeil, chairman of the War Effort committee.

Dick, who was a student at the University of Virginia prior to his entrance into the Army, studied law and was a member of the Student assembly.

Bedenbough, who has an A. B. degree from Newberry college, S. C., was president of his senior class in college, editor of the annual, member of the Appeals and Excesses committee of the Literary society, and taught high school for three years before entering the Army.

The election of these two soldiers makes the Union board have its full membership of nine. When two vacancies occurred this fall, it was decided that the 1,250 service men on the campus should have representatives on the board.

Frank Named
To Institute

J. P. Frank, instructor of physics in the ASTP at the University, has been elected to active membership in the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Woman's Halls, Sororities
To Entertain For Soldiers

The University social committee has announced that sororities and women's residence units will hold open house for civilians and service men every Saturday.

In previous years, it was the custom of sororities to hold open house each Friday afternoon for fraternity men, but this year all women's residence units and sororities will entertain for service men. More than one open house is being held each Saturday so that service men will have an opportunity to attend at least one each week.

The schedule for open houses is as follows: Saturday, October 23—Alpha Gamma Delta, 4-6 p.m.; Delta Delta Delta, 4-6 p.m.; Lydia Brown house, 4-6 p.m.; and Zeta Tau Alpha, 3-5 p.m.; Saturday, October 30—Hamilton house, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Sigma house, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon house; Saturday, November 13—Alpha Delta Pi, Jewell Hall, and Patterson hall annex.

Open houses will not be held on Saturday, November 6, due to the fact that service men stationed on the campus will be on furlough.

The time open house will be held on October 30 and November 13 will be announced later.

Dean Holmes Chairman

Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, dean of women, is chairman of the committee, with Mrs. John R. Evans acting as social director. Other committee members are Dr. T. T. Jones, dean of men; Mr. Edward Newbury, faculty member; Mr. Bart Peak, director of the Union; Miss Margaret Lester, director of women's residence halls; Pat Wallace, representative of the women's house president's council.

Sara Ewing, representative of Panhellenic council; J. C. Doyle, representative of SGA; Mary Jane Gallagher, town representative; Carolyn Spicer, YWCA representative; Norman Chrisman, YMCA representative; and Bill Nickell, representing the civilian men. Companies A, B, C, and G each send a representative to all meetings.

Kyian Queens
To Be Chosen
On October 30

Four Candidates
To Be Selected
From Nominees

Four Kentuckian Beauty Queen candidates will be selected by five impartial judges at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, October 30, in Memorial hall. These will be chosen from approximately 25 women nominated during the advance sales campaign, according to Micki Bogan, business manager of the Kentuckian.

The contest, at which all nominees will appear, is being held on Saturday night so that military students may attend. Miss Bogan emphasized.

Pictures of the four candidates will be sent to a national authority on beauty who will select the queen and rank the three attendants.

Nominations will be made on the basis of advance sales, one nominee being allowed for 20 deposits. Sales will end at 3 p.m., Wednesday, Miss Bogan announced, at which time the names of all candidates must be submitted.

Fifty cents may be saved by making a deposit of $1 now, Miss Bogan pointed out. Payment of an additional $3 in January, when the 1944 Kentuckian is distributed, will entitle one to a copy of the annual; otherwise the cost of the yearbook will be $4.50.

Pfc. C. Edwin Barnes, ROTC-ASTP student, is in charge of the beauty contest. Ida Bannon, Lexington, is sales manager. Women have been selected by the business manager to canvass the sorority and residence houses.

Sadie H. Set
For Manhunt

Gather 'round, wimmin folks. The great day's a comin'. We-uns hyar-by-announces and proclaims that the week beginning Monday, November 8, and ending Saturday, November 13, will be Sadie Hawkins week.

Grab yo' track shoes, girls, and let's go. Sadie Hawkins day is supposed to be the sixth of November, but due to the lack of eligible males that week, we old malds of the campus has decided to put the date on the thirteenth so that each and every gal can git a man.

The only hitch is that we gals have to do all the courtin'. Beginnin' Monday the eighth, any gal can invite any man to have a date wif her, she payin' the bill, nacherly. As fo' the men folks, they can make the gals carry their books, tote their coats, open the doors, and such like.

On Saturday night from 9 to 12 each gal takes a man to the big dance at the Union building. As many gals who don't want to drag a man as may be, can come stag and do all the breakin'. But notice, no man can be at the dance less'n a gal gives him an invite. So smile yo' bestest, boys, and start a-runnin'.

Graduation Fee
Is Set At $9
For Candidates

Candidates for bachelor's degrees will be charged a graduation fee of $9, it was announced today by the office of the registrar. This will cover the rental of cap and gown, diploma fee, senior dues, and the purchase of the Kentuckian.

Candidates for advanced degrees will be charged a fee of $15, which will cover the same items with the exception of the Kentuckian. In addition it includes the cost of the hood to be presented the candidate. Graduation fees are payable not later than the fourth day preceding the commencement exercises.

Soldiers Sign Up
With Date Bureau
For Saturday Hop

A party is being sponsored Saturday night from 5 to 8 o'clock at Castlewood park by the Date Bureau. Soldiers desiring to go are to sign up with their Date Bureau representatives and their dates will be arranged through the Bureau.

Those in charge of the arrangements for the party are Sue Penmore, Jane Denny, Mary Jane Gallagher, Bob Rich, T. H. Brown, Ed Yewell, Joe Robertson, and Harry Orr.

Movie Scheduled

"The Road To Zanzibar," featuring Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, and Dorothy Lamour, will be presented at 5:45, Monday, at the Union building.

$700 Is Placed As Goal For War Chest Drive To Open On Tuesday

Jimmie Hurt . . . is the men's division leader of the War Chest drive.

Marjorie Palmore . . . has been named general chairman of the women's division of the War Chest drive.

Dickson Is Head;
Hurt, Palmore
Are Sub-Chairmen

Aiming at a $700 goal, the SGA-sponsored campus War Chest drive will open Tuesday and continue through November 3.

The drive, the only one of its type to be conducted this year, combines the work of the various charitable organizations who formerly made separate campaigns during the year. After the drive has been completed, the money will be appropriated to the individual agencies.

Separate drives are being conducted by students and by faculty members.

Frank D. Peterson, University comptroller, has been named chairman for the entire University drive. He has organized an advisory committee, consisting of Walter A. Price, Niel Plummer, Jesse E. Adams and Henry Beaumont, and a general committee to do the soliciting.

The quota for the University, according to Peterson, is $6,023.35, including the $700 student goal. The faculty drive will be held between October 29 and November 6.

Dickson Is Head

Algernon Dickson, arts and sciences senior from Paris, heads the entire student organization of about 200 workers. Marjorie Palmore, education junior from Horse Cave, is chairman of the women's division, and Jimmie Hurt, arts and sciences junior from Harborside, is men's division leader.

All campaign workers will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Y lounge of the Union building for final instructions and distribution of materials. Miss Dickson announced.

Cards To Be Used

Each worker, according to the system of operation, will be responsible for personally canvassing several students, and a day-by-day report will be kept from cards turned in by canvassers. This card system, used successfully in other campaigns, will make possible an every-student drive toward the aim of "$1 from every UK student."

Campaign leaders plan to erect a large cardboard thermometer near the Union building to give a graphic daily report of the drive's progress toward its $700 goal. "Last year's campaign netted $630; this year we should go way over our quota," commented Miss Dickson.

Women Divided

Women students have been classified into five divisions according to place of residence, and leaders have been appointed for each group. Eloise Bennett is general chairman of the sorority-house women, and responsible to her are eight house chairmen with their respective sub-committees. Martha Cockrell heads the three-unit dormitory division, which includes chairmen and sub-committees in Jewell hall, Patterson annex, and the Lydia Brown house. In charge of all fraternity houses and cooperative houses is Helen Bradford, with an assisting group of chairmen and committees. The town girls will be contacted by Jane Denny and the commuters by Nancy Shropshire.

Soldiers Included

Hurt, men's chairman, at a general meeting last night announced the organization of his division which will solicit both civilian and military students. Assigned to the military division, Bill Barton plans to employ soldier support by working through already established

Service Men On Campus
Receive Conduct Medals

Awards Presented
Without Regular
Military Review

Good conduct medals have been awarded to a group of men stationed on the campus. The presentation of the medals, which was to have been made at the regular Saturday military review, was made without ceremony earlier this week because the parade was cancelled.

The following enlisted men, having served the required length of service with "excellent character, exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity," received awards: T. Sgt. Maynard C. Title; S. Sgt. Victor L. Wilmer; T/5 Irving S. Bain; Pts. Donald Balter, Fred Bloss, John S. Brown, Thomas Calcarano, Jr., Robert Casey, Edwin Cook, Rocky Cignellus, Edwin Cogan, William Dennis, Edward Esterday, Robert Eberhardt, John Farrell, Jr., Walter Flesch, Ewen Fraser, Loren Freeman, Robert Gilbert, Robert Held, Clarence Hevalow, John Hillock, Theodore Jensen, Thomas Knepp, Norman LaBar, Ralph Martin, Richard Maurer, Russell McLucas, Glenn Morey, William Parod, William Podhora, Hames Posner, Frank Rakoff, Ralph Roberts, William Roper, Bryce Rucker, Sol Sandhaus, Austin Shelley, George E. Smith, Robert Soka, Bernard Stump, Robert Tritt, and Edward Yewell.

Twenty-five members of the ASTP are commended for their outstanding work both as students and as cadets. Their character and deportment has been "most exemplary," according to Col. B. E. Brewer. These cadets are Donald Allen, Howard Bram, Joe Brandt, Donald Bowman, William Campbell, Carl Carter, Delbert Denmer, Douglas Fisher, Robert Fornal, James Frischkorn, Albert Gilbert, John Hayes.

First Formal
Set Saturday

UK's first formal dance of the year will be held from 9 to 12 o'clock tomorrow night in the Bluegrass room of the Union building. Music will be furnished by the Kampus Kats. The Halloween theme will be used.

Admission will be 25 cents for all men, soldiers and civilians. Women must present a hostess or guest card.

Hostess cards may be obtained by any registered student, graduate student, special student, or wife of a soldier stationed at the University. Guest cards are for out-of-town guests or for women not on the campus who are dates of the soldiers.

Cards may be secured before 12:30 p.m. on the Friday before each dance from the social director of the Union. Guest cards are 25 cents each.

Foreign Born
Soldiers Report

Soldiers stationed on the campus who were born in foreign countries are asked to go to the YMCA office in the Union building as soon as possible.

Dutch Lunch Club
Will Meet Today

Dutch Lunch club will have its first meeting of the year at noon today in the ballroom of the Union building for the purpose of organizing, Lucille Brown, president, announced.

Women are asked to obtain their lunches from the cafeteria or grill and to take them upstairs to the ballroom.

All women living in town or commuting are invited to attend the meeting.

1943-'44 Sunday Musicales
Set To Open On October 31

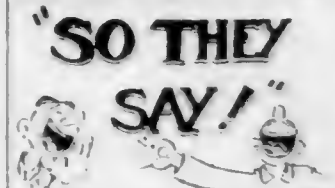

Despite the war the University is again presenting a full program of Sunday afternoon musicales to students, faculty, members of the armed forces on the campus, and citizens of Kentucky.

The schedule of concerts announced by Dr. Alexander Capurso, executive director of the department of music and chairman of the committee in charge of musicales, includes concerts by five eminent visiting artists, faculty soloists, the University music department, and student organizations.

These Sunday afternoon concerts are held at 4 p.m. at Memorial hall.

The season program is: October 31, John Dudley, tenor, Metropolitan Opera association; November 28, Angel Reyes, Cuban violinist; December 5, John Shelby Richardson, pianist, University of Kentucky; December 12, Christmas Choral Program by the University choristers, Mildred S. Lewis, director; February 6, Marisa Regules, Argentine pianist; February 13, University Philharmonic orchestra, Carl A. Lampert, director; February 20, University Women's Glee club, Mildred S. Lewis, director; February 27, program by University chapter of Phi Beta, honorary fine arts fraternity; March 5, Robert Kuhlman, baritone, University of Kentucky; March 12, program of violin and piano sonatas by Lee Crook, Lexington, violinist, and John Shelby Richardson, pianist, University of Kentucky; March 19, William Primrose, violinist, New York City; March 26, Florence Kirk, soprano, Metropolitan Opera association; April 12, Sacred Oratorio, The Seven Last Words, Mildred S. Lewis, director; Lela W. Cullis, organist.

Question: Who is your favorite pin-up girl and why?

Cpt. William W. Ryan, Patterson hall: Shirley Temple, cause I'm a firm believer in getting them young and bringing them up right.

Cpt. Duke Wyman, ROTC: Jane Russell—that's a foolish question.

J. C. Doyle, A&S junior: Lana Turner; she's got that "come on" look, you know, the honey type.

Pvt. Martin Dudek, Breckinridge hall: Betty Grable; she typifies every curve in Analytic Geometry.

Pvt. Shelley Shoehet, Bradley hall: Gypsy Rose Lee — needs no explanation.

"No, she ain't, but her dad's a colonel here."

STRICTLY PRIVATE

By Pfc. Ed Barnes

Three weeks have passed since the return of the native and Kappa Beta Bank Stevens still asks, "How did you like Texas?" And just around the corner, Chi-O's Edith Conant and Pat McCarty just love to ask the same question, only to be repeated by Alpha Gam Joan Thiess, Tri-Delt Margaret Erskine and KD June Scott.

Well, in answer to all the questions about Texas so many campus boys and girls . . . ASTP, too . . . have asked, we submit a poem carried from the battle of Camp Velters by Pfc. Anil Davis. If you don't, that's tough . . . company commander Mitchell Yowell will contact the Chaplain for you.

Texas . . . You Can Have It
'Twas once that I was happy,
My life was filled with cheer;
I never had seen Texas
'Till the Army brought me here.

I've heard songs of her beauty,
Pretty girls and big strong men,
Rolling plains and majestic mountains,
Just heaven, from end to end.

But one thing is certain,
Of this there is no denying,
The guy that started that noise
Did a hell of a lot of lying.

Deep in the heart of Texas
There is sand in all we eat.

The girls are all bow-legged
And the boys all have flat feet.

That's why they sent us here,
To sit in sad dejection,
Out on this lonely desert,
For this damn state's protection.

No longer are we religious,
We drink, we fight, we curse;
No worry about going to hell -
It couldn't be any worse.

Down here the sun is hotter,
Down here the rain is wetter,
They think it's the best state;
But there are 47 better.

Still there is no one to blame but me,
The Army never forgot it;
I asked for foreign duty, and Believe me, by God I got it.

The sentiments were expressed by a Marine Air Force Cadet who was stationed at Corpus Christi, Texas while we were doing time in Mineral Wells.

AGR's Nancy Owen and Marvin Bell recently informed us from Walters that the UK coeds are ever-present in their hearts . . .
maybe that explains the far-away look in so many pretty eyes.

Strike up a chord, maestro, the TS ship of the week goes to none other than Tri-Delt Patty Gay Latta who was overheard in the grill singing, "Just Pety and me, and Swifty makes three."

One Way of Doing Things

In Morgantown, W. Va., the KA's, having been told that the Army was going to take over their house, started out en masse together, in case you can't comprehend it to search for the rooms. Seven decided that they wanted to sleep in the same room which originally was meant to accommodate two. Fifty-two inferences were called in to decide what humans should get the room.

Added information: Those least skilled in poker resumed their search.

What Makes A Professor?

Looking as pedantic as a truck star with a crew cut and shell-rimmed glasses, Prof. Henry Veatch, of the Department of Philosophy of Indiana U., introduces himself to his classes with this statement:

"All men are fools."
"Henry Veatch is a man."
"Therefore Henry Veatch is a fool."

A mild-mannered, soft-spoken gentleman, he manages to talk and think about "two jumps ahead of anyone else," much to the disap-point of the brave souls who venture to speak in his hallowed classroom, in explaining the terms, activity and passivity, he puts it this way:

"I am in a state of activity because I am lecturing to you; you are in a state of passivity because you are subjecting yourselves to listening to my lecture, heaven forbid!"

Down State Teachers college (Cedar Falls, Ia.) has an air raid siren exclusively for the campus. It was constructed by a faculty engineer,
May the studees are hard of hearing.

Out of This World

A new university lounge (eyes, that is what it says) is to be erected at Morgantown, W. Va. It is planned to be used for post-war aviation courses at the University.

Originally built for United Airlines, it cost between $50,000 and $60,000.
Due to the fact that it was of little use to the airline on that particular route it was sold to the University for $11,000. The hangar can house about 30 planes, depending on their size and type.

Feminine Griddle
Beached by HNSAA

A special ruling received by the New Castle High School principal, today sent 16-year-old Agnes Rifner, blonde extra-point kicker for the Trojans, to the bench for the season with a kicking percentage of 0.00.

The order, signed by four members of the Indiana High School Athletic association and citing a regulation forbidding "mixed" personnel on prep athletic squads, ended Agnes' competitive booting career at "none for two."

Little Miss Rifner, frightened
"almost to tears" in her debut last week, missed both attempts at conversion.

As a result of the ruling, Agnes is looking for ways of occupying hours formerly spent at football practice and Coach Griz Baker is in the market for a place kicker.—
The Indiana Daily Student.

The General calls the Major and puts him on the scout;

The Major shoos the orders off on a shave-tail Lieutenant.

The Lieutenant stands pondering and rubs his sturdy jaw.

Then calls the trusty Sergeant and to him lays down the law.

The Sergeant calls the Corporal and tells him what's to be;

The Corporal calls the Private, and that, my friends—is me!!

heard of, or will ever want to hear of again. We will try to rival the Colonel of the Week, which is so popular, stimulating, and desirable. So, begin ning today we inaugurate a new feature called:

CARNAL OF THE WEEK

LEONARD SCHOOLEER

We have no picture of Mr.
Schooeler, but it's probably best that way, because no one would look at it anyway.

Leonard is president of the YMCA, secretary of the United Fraternal of America, and a member-at-large of the Sun Worshipper's Society. He is a junior but his IQ is very low.

Leonard is an enthusiastic butterfly netter and an ardent collector of Lane Turner pictures. He has seven scrapbooks full. He is the founder of the Schooeler Fan Clubs of Kentucky. Last year he was a Kappa pledge until his draft card came.

For these achievements, the editorial invites Leonard to stay away from any two of its inciting meals.

Said Vincent Spagnuolo, Student Government president, at the last meeting "The SGA election held last Spring was one of the cleanest ever held—except that most of the students voted twice!"

Just as a point of curiosity we are wondering if there happen to be any ASTP soldiers here from Wyoming. We have never in all our lives met a person from that state and are curious to know what type of the human specie is bred in that af-most forgotten territory.

From section 302 ASTP, comes the following episode designed at embarrassing the poor unsuspecting coed. As a girl walks by the marching section, one of the boys starts off with

"Say, Oscar, is that the one
"Looks like her from here."

"I think that's the one."

"Yeah, that's her alright."

Result: The poor coed turns a color that would well rival the red of a fireman's hat.

Which reminds us that we citizens are very grateful for the change in orders that call for the soldiers to march in columns of two's rather than three's. We have now become very fond of that much of side walk that has been so generously donated to us and we presume the military authorities that we shall take excellent care of it.

"That rille's dangerous," said the disgruntled sophomore ROTC student, "there's no string on the cork."

Theme song of an infantry band private whose girl has been lured away by an A-1 Corps cadet:

And then the thirty-five guys
With their thirty-three eyes
Will have to live with girls that are real."

And then there's the story about the freshman in metal lungy who tried to convince the senior that he was not a miner.

There Will Be No Other Time

When the War Chest campaign gets under way on the campus next week, sponsored by the Student Government association, every student, civilian and soldier alike, will be asked to do his share to send the University goal of $700 over the top.

Before brushing off the campaign workers with the usual collegial reply to all solicitation of funds: "I'm broke today, but ask me some other time," it would be well to realize that this will be the only time that we will be given the opportunity to contribute to the National War fund and the organizations which it supports.

The dollar which each of us is being asked to give will be tossed into the hopper out of which will come the support for the local Community Chest, the USO, War Prisoners Aid, United Nations' Relief, Seamen's Service, United China Relief, and many other organizations.

When your representative comes around give what you can. Those to whom you give would do the same if their positions were reversed.

Red Cross Issues Call For Coed Bandage Rollers

For you women who feel that you would like to do something for the war effort, a splendid opportunity is offered by the Lexington chapter of the American Red Cross.

The organization is in desperate need of workers to make surgical dressings. If the War Department's quota is to be filled, approximately 12,000 dressings must be completed every day until December 18.

Ours IS To Question Why

By Pvt. Saul Halpert

"Ours is not to question why, ours is but to do or die!"

That is precisely not the attitude which should motivate the men in the American armed services, according to Major Leonard Spiegelgass, Special Services Division, U S Army. Major Spiegelgass was one of several ranking military officers who participated in the Writer's Congress held recently at the University of California at Los Angeles.
"The Congress had been called to consider how writers could apply their talent and skill to help win the war, and was attended by almost every notable figure in American letters, radio, movies, and journalism—from Theodore Dreiser to Walt Disney—and by such prominent refugees as Thomas Mann, the German novelist.

Army Interested

The Army was interested in the Congress from the point of view that writers have played an important role in preparing training films and other educational material for the Army. Major Spiegelgass pointed out that every American soldier must be made to understand the issues of this war and have an active part in the conduct of the fight.

Some typical GI attitudes indicate how well Major Spiegelgass stated the problem. One of the most frequent attitudes expressed in GI bull sessions is the fear that there won't be any jobs for us when we return after the war, that we will have a reputation of the unemployed and breadlines of '29, and that we will be up the proverbial creek.

It is unfortunate that some GIs indulge in this kind of thinking.
It's unfortunate, because it contradicts the fundamental reasons for which this war is being fought. We are fighting to destroy the very things that some of us are afraid we may come home to.

Fight Is For Many Things

This war is not simply a test of military might, and victory will not be won with the mere military defeat of the enemy. We are fighting against poverty and unemployment, discrimination against minority peoples, social and economic inequalities—all those conditions which breed and made possible the rise of the Axis powers.

We are confident that we will emerge victorious on the field of combat but actually the victory democratic to achieve them the will be a defeat the war will not be over, we will simply have an armistice until another battle 20 years hence if we don't secure the military victory by social, economic, and political measures that will make impossible the repetition of those conditions which lead to fascism and wars.

Of course, there are cynics among us—soldiers as well as civilians—who affect the pose that they really don't care if we do have another war in 20 years. They back up this attitude with a shrug of the shoulders and the cliché that "We can't do anything to stop it anyway."

Down With The Cynics

Of all the things in this whole battered world, the one factor which by itself is most likely to assure us of another war is precisely the cynical pose that, "Well, we can't do anything, so why try?"

To expect a Utopia is equally ridiculous and unthinking, but the very basis of our democratic system of government tells us that we can determine the course of events to the extent that we, the people at large, think about problems and act on the conclusions we draw.
If we sit back and say, "It can't be done," we can be certain that it won't be done. If we think and act, our chances of success are at least proportional to the effort we apply.

We are willing and anxious to bend every effort to fight and win this war, because we recognize in the character of our enemy a threat to the freedom and decency of civilized people everywhere in the world. We ought to show that same eagerness and determination to carry the military victory to its logical conclusion, to win the peace
as well as the victory.

Soldiers Should Think

We should begin to think about these problems now, not as a distraction from our main immediate purpose, which is to win the military victory, but rather as a reinforcement of that immediate purpose. The better we understand why we are in uniform, the better soldiers we are, and the greater our contribution to victory.

Major Spiegelgass indicated the understanding attitude which must motivate the American soldier when he quoted the famous words of Oliver Cromwell, the great leader of the English people in their movement toward democratic government, who stated some 300
years ago:

"The best soldier is the one who knows what he fights for, and loves what he knows."

College life at universities all sports. But are these sports really representative of the school; are OUR athletes really representatives of the student body? Here at the University of Kentucky this year it seems that they are not.

I have been told that there are twenty-five boys here on scholarships to play basketball. That, however, is not my point of dispute;
my point is this NO OTHER BOYS, EXCEPT THESE TWEN-TY-FIVE, ARE EVEN GOING TO BE ALLOWED TO TRY OUT FOR BASKETBALL THIS YEAR. Even among our war-depleted student body there are boys who played basketball for their high schools and would like a crack at college ball.
Some of them may be good, better even than the scholarship boys.
Are they to be denied the right to participate merely because they come from unknown teams? Is it comal but actually the victory democratic to achieve them the

Liberty Loan

The University Band inaugurated the Victory Liberty Loan drive at Irvine, Kentucky last Saturday.
The band left Lexington at 6:30 a.m. and proceeded to Irvine, where it was treated royally by the people, who served not only breakfast and dinner to the band, but also told "dopes," smokes, and the like. About $60,000 in bonds were bought by the people of Estill county after hearing the band play.

The YMCA Volley ball team, composed of the business men of the city, defeated the University faculty men in a lively game Friday night. The score was as follows: Faculty 2, "Y" 21.

Home Ec Again

The Home Ec Freshman again appears. She was observed the other day attaching her busen burner to the water faucet and inquiring anxiously in the stockroom for a long brunette (burette).

And the usual soldier quips—
Fair One: What is the baby blue cord on your hat for?
Johnny: "Infantry."

Drink To Me
Since Kentucky has gone out of the liquor business the studees will have to revive the old song, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Spare The Grass

The parts of the campus which were tramped down and denuded of grass by the activities of the recent vocational Army camp are being plowed up in preparation for grass, which will be planted soon. We hope that students will begin now to co-operate in abolishing paths across grass plots on the campus.

NOW signalmen can wear helmets with this new headset!

SIGNALMEN formerly saw action without helmets because old-style headsets were too bulky. Now miniature re-

Fitting snugly under the helmets they give better recep-

Signal Corps engineers working with Western Electric

Coed Corner...

By Mary Jane Gallaher

The thought of spending another cool spell in our gorgeous Kentucky climate scratching the itch caused by my long wool undies and trying to keep my ears from freezing off is too much for me. My nose goes through the winter looking as though I had taken up permanent habitation at the Mayfair; this being an excellent thought except for the present shortage of alcohol. I couldn't last long with those noses alone.

Suits are the topic of your clothes page this day, or what not to wear when. The motto of this column is hereby announced as the less the better—or take it off, Matilda! The backbone of any wardrobe these days is a good suit. They are the things which are most practical and economical, since they go easy on the down payment at DeBoers, and present many opportunities for variety.

In purchasing the aforementioned article of apparel, do be considerate of what you already possess and of your budget. (I take it you have one such!) On the whole your best bet for all around wearability is a solid color in a conservative cut. Solid colors are better if you intend to wear the thing till the moths beat you to it, or it wears through at the point of strain. (Need you ask where?) Therefore you don't want something that will make Him wonder, "Does she sleep in the rag too?" However, nothing puts in a better appearance than an unusual plaid suit. It gives you a wonderful feeling of individuality and of being set apart from the mob. (If you haven't already earned this distinction by more unladylike methods.) If you can afford several suits and may spend the check from home on matching blouses and sweaters, for these must be used to show off a plaid suit sufficiently, then buy ahead to your little heart's content. But please get one that isn't exactly like everyone else's.

After having made up your so-called mind firmly about what you intend to purchase when you reach the mighty thoroughfare of Main street, do not get diverted and let some wolfish khaki-clad person lure you into the Bluegrass room. Be forceful and continue on your way. Try on the suits at several different stores and ignore most of the "honey, you look lovely" sales chatter being dished out. Decide for yourself. Is the color especially good and is the style right? Remember you'll have to be seen in it 'til the Bourbon flows freely again and you can stop worrying over where you lost that solitary botchy pin. Be positive the style isn't too extreme and most of all that it is becoming to you. Just because a coat draped to her knees looks good on Gertrude is no sign you couldn't do with one a little shorter. Your hips may not be so big as Gertie's either. Look the situation over in the mirror from all angles, remember the fellows here 'bouts are nearly all studying engineering now, and being soldiers as well as draftsmen, they naturally know more about the proper degree of curvature than they did before. If it doesn't exactly match your droop shape and sloping shoulders, tour 'round to a good dressmaker and have it fitted. That can often make the big decision as to whether you fill the bill or not.

And these days it's either fill the bill, and win the tenth round at the dorm door, or ruin your health studying on week-ends. Just ask the Doc, he'll tell you to drink away a cold and court a fever—the latter being preferable to freezing to death with the fuel shortage.

SAE's Entertain With Banquet As Get-Together

Kentucky Epsilon of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity entertained with a get-together banquet Saturday night in the Colonial room of the Lafayette hotel.

The table held an arrangement of purple and gold candles in the shape of the S.A.E. pin. One end of the room was lighted with the fraternity crest and the chapter's service flag with 190 blue stars was hung at the other end.

Those present included Mrs. Ballard Luxon, former housemother; Mrs. Thomson Bryant, Moss Patterson, Gayle Mohoney, John H. Clark, Granville Clark, Ben E. Bank, John Hall, Alex Hall, Billy Gabbert, Ellis Jones, Jim Saunders, Craig Riddle, Bill Wade, Arthur White, Tommy Bell, George Dudley, Robert Gillem, Joe Hall, Raymer Jones, George Kelly, Ben L. Kessinger, Jr., E. S. Penick, Nixie Peak, Pete Triplett, Dick Webb, Charles Rhodes, and Harry Hughes.

ADPi Pledges Entertain Actives

The pledge class of Alpha Delta Pi sorority entertained with a wieners roast at 6 Thursday night at Castletown in honor of the actives.

A program was presented by the pledges and the sorority colors of blue and white were used in the decorations. Mrs. A. M. Hale, housemother, chaperoned the affair.

Helen Bertram, Vanceburg, and Barbara Brooks, Dallas, Texas, were in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Founder's Day Honored By ZTA

Alpha Chi chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha celebrated National Founders Day with a luncheon Saturday in the Thoroughbred room of the Phoenix hotel.

The table was centered with candles honoring the nine founders of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Marjorie Wilson, president, addressed the group.

Randy Hood, social chairman, was in charge of arrangements.

ZTA Elects Pledge Officers

The pledge class of Alpha Chi chapter, Zeta Tau Alpha, elected pledge officers for the year at their Tuesday meeting.

They are Ruth Warren, president; Jeanette Reynolds, vice president; Dortha Harlow, treasurer; and Patricia Cottrell, secretary.

Committee chairmen are Mary Elizabeth Gifford, scholarship; Roberta Ratchford, social; Jeanette Reynolds and Catherine Goman, program; and Jennie Johnson, scrapbook.

Kentucky In Civil War Era Is Shown In Library Exhibit

By Alice Freeman

Music autographed by Stephen Foster; a homespun, butternut dyed, and handmade Confederate uniform; letters of Gen. Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis; a lock of Gen. John Hunt Morgan's hair; a Confederate soldier's first aid kit; a pair of shoes worn by Davis; and several rare pictures of Confederate leaders are only a few of the items of the Civil War period exhibit now on display in the foyer of the University library.

Arranged by the Lexington chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Library staff, the exhibition features loans by members and townspeople of material which emphasizes the part Kentuckians played in the War Between the States.

According to Miss Margaret King, librarian, an attempt has been made to group by cases information on Generals Lee, Morgan, Bedford Forrest, and Ben Hardin Helm, in addition to the collections of money, stamps, letters, flags, jewelry, diaries, and portraits.

The Civil War firearms, nine balls, poison balls, a cannon ball from Fort Donelson, and grapeshot fired at Morgan's men and cut from a tree 35 years later, provide an interesting contrast to the implements of modern warfare.

Loaned to the exhibit by the Sons of the Confederacy are several Confederate battle flags. A Kentucky State Guard flag presented to General Morgan by the "young ladies of Woodford county" has been given by his niece to the collection.

A note of pathos may be found in the carefully preserved letter of a Confederate prisoner of war. Addressed to his sister, it begins, "I have just received notice that I am to be executed at 4 o'clock this evening. . . . I have served my country and injured no man. All I regret is that I have but one life to lose for my country. . . . I am not afraid to die. I hope I go to Heaven and rest in peace; I am innocent, no spy. . . . My love to all. Your brother, Walter."

An elaborately embroidered white silk wedding vest and red sash worn by General Helm and an initial pocket handkerchief of General Morgan show how Lexingtonians have treasured family mementoes.

Sheet music sold on the streets of Richmond, Va., for the benefit of poor Confederate families is picturesquely entitled Oh, Lay Me Away With the Boys in Gray and God Save the Southern Land. Willie We Have Missed You also was popular.

The Lee exhibit includes the rowel of his spur and a gavel made from the tree under which he delivered his final address at Appomattox. Among the letters and documents of Capt. Thomas J. Hines, one of Morgan's celebrated raiders, is one of the 13 saws which he furnished to Maj. John B. Castleman, who was a military prisoner at Indianapolis, Ind., under sentence of death in October 1864.

Miss King explained that a room has been given to the UDC by the University library and that at a later date such material would be available for research and study to interested persons. Most of the books on exhibit are already the property of the library.

companies. Jay C. Doyle will be in charge of commuters and men living in Lexington. The well-populated sector of residences immediately surrounding the University has been divided geographically, and chairmen have been appointed to canvass men living in private homes. The section of Rose street from Maxwell to the University will be covered by Buddy White, Maxwell and Harrison streets will be contacted by Rob McNeill. Ray Garrison will cover Limestone street residences to Maxwell, and Winston Hendrickson will be responsible for blocks between Maxwell and Main streets. Each of these chairmen will be assisted by committees.

YM-YWCA support of the drive in the form of publicity work was pledged yesterday by Miss Rosalie Oakes, YW secretary. The Y poster campaign, she said, will emphasize the work of the World Student Service fund, which this year has been incorporated in the War Chest.

Basketball Will Carry On In Games With Old Rivals

By Bill Spragens
Although the 1943-44 University basketball schedule has not yet been released, games with many of Kentucky's old rivals will be played this season. It was stated this year by head basketball coach, Adolph Rupp, practice has been in progress for the past two weeks.

The following teams have been placed on the schedule for one game only. Notre Dame, Indiana, Great Lakes, DePaul, St. John's, and Canisius. The DePaul game will be played in Chicago, the St. John's game in New York, and the Canisius game in Buffalo. Two games each have been scheduled with St. Xavier and Cincinnati. There will possibly be two or four games with Vanderbilt and possibly two games with Georgia Tech. Since Tennessee and Alabama will not have teams this year they are of course omitted from the schedule.

In addition to the games mentioned above, there will be games with three service teams besides the Great Lakes game. No dates were revealed for any of those games, and the complete schedule will not be released for several weeks.

As many of the home games as possible will be played on Saturday night in order that the soldiers may attend.

About twelve boys are participating regularly in the practice, which is held three times weekly. Most of the drill now is in the fundamentals of the game, Rupp stated. Rupp also said that there were openings in the squad for any boys who are interested in basketball and who have had any previous experience in the sport.

Ticket books for the basketball season will be distributed to all regular students enrolled in the University. The date for issuing these books has not been revealed, but it will be well in advance of the first game in December. Rupp said.

IT ALL MEANS WORK

The word crew is probably derived from the old Norman word "accrue," meaning to increase. To accrue is closely allied to the term recruit.

The use of marquetry in cabinet work reached its highest point of development in Holland during the 17th century.

Crows are able to distinguish between armed and unarmed men and will closely approach the latter.

ASTP Shows 21pct Progress In First Term

Performances Are Recorded Among 2,557 Men

An average improvement of 21 percent in physical efficiency among soldier-trainees in the first term of participation in the Army Specialized Training program has been announced in a War Department communication.

Performances were recorded in seven events among 2,557 trainees at the twelve institutions in which the program is being operated, both at the start of the program and approximately three months later. Gains in different events ranged from 6 percent to 30 percent. Tests included push-ups, sit-ups, sprinting, and other conditional exercises. An overall improvement of 28 percent resulted in four common practices, measuring roughly the soldier's muscular tone, strength and endurance.

In tests involving time, showing the individual's coordination, speed, and endurance, the overall gain was 12 percent, and a general improvement of 24 seconds over the original attempt.

Six hours a week is spent by the trainees in physical training. C. W. Hackensmith, acting head of the University's department of physical education, instructs the enlisted men.

About 10,000,000 pounds of dressed turkey will be needed to give U. S. men overseas a Thanksgiving dinner.

Let's Have A Heart, Gals! Give These GI's A Chance

By Pvt. Saul Halpert

This boy-girl stuff—most of it has been written from the wrong angle. The usual sad tale of woe goes something like this:

A shy (?) and altogether beautiful (?) young co-ed will plaintively describe her plight as a class section of marching GI's bears down the walk and she doesn't know whether to run or be trampled. There are variations, but it boils down to the same old routine—these soldiers are over-running the campus (as if you didn't love it, what with the scarcity of local talent, plus our own charms!).

However, consider for a moment the sad plight of the poor buck private. With distracting scenery flitting about the campus in every direction, we are told to march at attention. We are now marching in columns of twos, so that we won't run you off the campus lanes. We can't whistle at you anymore. The latest latrine rumor has it that we will soon be issued horse blinkers, so we won't even be able to look!

One bright character advanced the following theory for the change from columns of threes to twos. It seems that the middle file was always trying to look both ways at once, with the result that necks were sprained, eyeballs sprung from their sockets, and study habits so impaired that whole sections were flunking physics and math quizzes. This rumor comes from a habitually unreliable source.

So have a heart! Just because a GI looks at you (the one privilege he still retains!) do you have to call him a wolf? He's probably lonesome for home and mother. Take a chance, talk to him next time. See what happens!

Have You Lost Anything? This Is The Place To Look

By Catherine Goman

Lost your one and only remaining pre-war hairpin—lost your gal—lost your way? Just ask at the desk at the Union building.

You may not find what you lost, but you are sure to find something interesting and too, if you've lost your bill fold and your driver's license, and your ration books, and the man of the hour's picture (a certain gal did just that)—tell them at the info desk. They'll look for the articles and nine times out of ten find them, too.

Of course, every once in a while they miss. Take the case of the missing babushka. A young lady reported her favorite scarf, which she described as white with a horse in one corner, had disappeared. Can you blame the ladies for not finding it when they didn't know what kind of horse to look for?

Maeke Rassdall is patiently awaiting the day when someone comes in looking for the top he lost. It's the prettiest top, all red and yellow. Some UK senior must miss it so much.

The hostesses are very cooperative about returning things. The other day, for example, a girl from Jewell hall lost her bill fold, plus all the things a girl carries in a bill fold. A soldier picked it up and took it to the desk—maybe you can guess the rest. You're right, the understanding hostess in charge thought it was only right for the soldier to return it in person.

Note: Now she's hoping for a beautiful romance.
